Help make 2010 the last unfair election Join Us!

Over ten years ago the government promised to give the people a say on changing the rules of politics. They missed their chance.

Now it's too late to change the way we elect our politicians before the next election produces yet another unrepresentative government.

We don't want 2010 to be business as usual – at the next election we believe that we should also have a chance to vote for real change.

So that's why we're calling for a referendum on electoral reform on election day. Governments may come and go, but we won't see real change until voters - not politicians – are given the chance to decide how our politics should work.

For over one hundred years the Electoral Reform Society has been campaigning to change the way we elect our politicians. We believe that fairness, accountability and a real choice for voters should not be compromised.

People from across the political spectrum have signed up to our campaign, and take an active day to day role in our activities. Membership of the Society entitles you to our magazine, The Voter, email updates, a discount on all our journals and publications, and plenty of opportunities to get involved in our activist and educational programmes.

So next election day let's ensure the people have their voices heard...
